CLEAN UP WETS JOB IS IN HAND

Com. Haynes on the War Path
Against Rich Boot-legger.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington.—A federal prohibition clean-up, such as the country has not known since the eighteenth century, is now being undertaken by the federal government, under the leadership of Commissioner Haynes, who is in charge of the enforcement of the law.

Beginning in the two great "wet" states of the East, New York and Pennsylvania, the clean-up is being carried on with the greatest reluctance and enforced with indifference. The clean-up is being carried on with the greatest reluctance and enforced with indifference. The clean-up is being carried on with the greatest reluctance and enforced with indifference.

Westward the campaign will make its way. It will be a State enforcement organization which will prove what it can do. Local officials will be snatched from their jobs and replaced by trusted lieutenants of Commissioner Haynes. When the occasion warrants, on the other hand, where local officers actually try to combat the violation of prohibition laws they will be given the full co-operation of the federal forces.

Getting at the Source.
This newest campaign to enforce prohibition is unique in that the theory behind it is to close down on the source of liquor supply. More than half the nation's supply of whiskey is stored in Kentucky, and making its way from Kentucky up through Pennsylvania and into New York. The federal prohibition machinery has been accelerated to control this route of supply.

Prohibitionists have contended that so long as the supplies leaked from their source, the loss of individual bootleggers with the staff of inspectors to the prohibition department is able to command more or less failure.

The current clean-up was started in New York, regarded as the most difficult, single point, whereas in Pennsylvania the effective and general enforcement of prohibition had broken down. There was something of a sensation in the East when Judge Harold Hart, appointed federal prohibition director of New York in May, recently resigned and the enforcement offices in New York were taken in charge by E. C. Volney Davis, a federal agent, with assistants, coincident with announcements there was to be reorganization and housecleaning.

Sensation in Pennsylvania.
That sensation is echoing now in Pennsylvania, where the takeover of the enforcement organization in that state. Commissioner Haynes, on his way to Pittsburgh, there to superintend the installation of a special officer, E. P. Butler, who is expected to take charge of the enforcement of the law in Pennsylvania. The appointment of this associate to William C. McConnell, state director of Pennsylvania, is the beginning of reorganization in Pennsylvania similar to the shake-up in New York. Pennsylvania newspapers already are stating that within a short time Director McConnell, who was appointed in July, will retire, just as Judge Hart did in New York, thus leaving Pennsylvania control directly in the hands of Commissioner Haynes as New York control is now in his hands.

Before Judge Hart's departure for Pittsburgh the prohibition offices announced the retirement of Samuel E. Wolfe, former head of the Pennsylvania field service, and his replacement by John H. Connelley, general prohibition agent, formerly supervisor of the Pacific department to take charge in the Pittsburgh district.

Kentucky Is Scheduled Next.
The renewed activity of the enforcement department is expected to lead to the rechecked in all Kentucky, so that the federal authorities will have fortified themselves all along the main route of whiskey supply. It will be expected that in other states and "dry" believe it will cause a rustle of increased endeavor everywhere.

"From our viewpoint, this drive, starting in New York, is the most hopeful thing in several months," said Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America. "It means increased interest in other states, and by the time of the law enforcement convention to be held here December 6, 7 and 8 I believe a very encouraging report will be possible."

The full weight of administration influence is behind the campaign. In replacing a federal director in New York, who was appointed under the Harding administration in May, and in sending an associate with full power as director to act with the Pennsylvania director, who is a Harding administration appointee, named in July, Commissioner Haynes is serving whatever threads connect the state enforcement offices with state politics, but is doing so only after consultation with political leaders concerned. In other words, he is enlisting the support of Republican politicians, and pointing out to them the administration stands for "thorough methods of enforcement."

A Shock to the East.
It is possible to say, on responsible authority, that consultations over the New York situation before Federal Director Hart resigned, reached as high as the White House itself. Before the clean-up squad on the job in Pennsylvania, Commissioner Haynes consulted at length with Secretary Mellon and with Senator Penrose, who was sponsor for the appointment of Director McConnell in Pennsylvania.

The eastern part of the country is beginning to realize that drastic action is at hand and that a most important step to dry up the supply of liquor in states where it has been most plentiful is being taken. Already in the national capital the enforcement campaign is mentioned in these terms: "The big clean-up is on."

MOTHER WHO KEEPS 18 ON $20 PER WEEK ROUTS MISS SPECKS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York.—Mrs. Domenico Zaccaria—whose successful efforts to keep a family of 18 on the $20 a week earned by her husband resolved public notice after President Harding recently wrote congratulating her on her large family—has repulsed a caller who was prepared by up-to-the-minute charges to show the nation how to live scientifically.

"She was a young woman with big, horn-rimmed spectacles and several books and papers under her arm," said Mrs. Zaccaria. "She wanted to come in, look over the place, interview the children one by one and then draw up a chart showing us how to live scientifically."

"I asked her if she ever tried keeping a big family on $20 a week. She said she hadn't. Then I told her to go out and try both when she had got away with them she might come back and we'd compare notes. That was the last we saw of her."

"I have always gotten along and the change is we always will. All we ask is to be let alone and given a fifty-fifty chance. We don't want anything that isn't ours."

"I checked her little list on East 19th street, which Mrs. Zaccaria keeps for her husband and 16 children. Over the mantelpiece hangs the President's letter which made the family famous. Mrs. Zaccaria is hopeful that her husband soon may get a raise which the husband's English improved."

"He knows more English every day," she said.

RIPARIAN RIGHTS ISSUE IN COURTS

Federal Judge Luse to Rule on Public's Rights to Streams.

Traditional rights of riparian owners are to be established in an action now on trial before Judge Claude Luse in federal court in Madison. The court ruling is of interest to all sportsmen and those owning property along a stream frequented by hawks and fishermen.

The title of the case is C. F. White against the State of Wisconsin. The plaintiff is a wealthy lumberman from Chicago and owns a tract of land in Northern Wisconsin. A branch of the White river runs through White's property for several miles.

The owner had built a summer home and undertook the spawning of fish to stock the streams on his land. A dam was built across the river more than 20 years ago, creating a mill pond. From this pond White sought to sue the state to secure a right of way. The state game commission seized his note and ordered him to refrain.

White took the case to the state court, where he lost. He then sued the state in federal court and then sought action in the federal courts.

Will Determine Law.
The Wisconsin attorney general recently made a ruling which was interpreted to mean that private rights along riparian property had been abolished. No one owns or has jurisdiction along a state stream between high and low water mark. Anyone may hunt, fish or walk along the banks and not be guilty of trespass. The riparian owner only controls to high water mark, under the decision of W. J. Morgan.

The use of streams is generally defended for the public, although a person cannot cross private property to reach the banks of a lake or river. The court will have to determine whether the state commission had authority to stop the Chicago owner from selling and if will either "make or break" the state law relating to water power and the ruling of the attorney general.

NIAGARA GORGE MAY HAVE AUTO HIGHWAY
Buffalo.—The roadbed of the Niagara Gorge railroad, over which thousands of tourists at Niagara Falls have made the trip down close to the lower rapids and the White rapids, may become a public highway for automobiles and other vehicular and foot travel.

Attorneys for the railway are preparing to offer the right of way to the state in return for certain power rights. The roadbed, the company representatives say, can be transformed at little expense to the state into one of the finest scenic boulevards in the world.

No grading or engineering work will be required between the falls and Lewiston.

THANKS GIVEN FOR $75,000 MEMORIAL

Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Officially Acknowledge Lovejoy Offer.

A closer relationship, and a better spirit of co-operation between the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. of Janesville was established at a joint meeting of the boards of directors of the two organizations at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. This was the first time since the Y. W. C. A. was established that the two have met together. It was also the first time that an official board meeting of the Y. M. C. A. has been presided over by a woman. A. E. Matheson, president of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A., tendered the chair to Miss Mary Barker, president of the Y. W. C. A.

There were 35 members of the two boards and officers present at the dinner, the men being hosts. The purpose was to take action on the $75,000 Lovejoy Memorial Fund. The following resolution introduced by Mr. Matheson was unanimously passed:

Resolved, that speaking for the community in which we are carrying on our work, and on behalf of the girls and boys and the young women and young men of Janesville, we express our deep appreciation of the memorial gift by Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy, Mrs. Julia Lovejoy Curber, and H. S. Lovejoy, in memory of Allen P. Lovejoy, their son and brother.

That we express our gratitude for the new avenues of service opened up by this gift, and that we cheerfully accept, and our recognition of the confidence in us as shown by the donors of this splendid memorial. That we further record our appreciation for the action of the donors in this memorial gift, and that we pledge ourselves to the spirit and purpose of their lives now and in the days to come, and to the community where they lived.

That we note, in this memorial gift, not only a fine emphasis on family affection and sacred memories, but also a high purpose, which will bear rich fruitage in the direct results that flow into the community; that we further emphasize the indirect benefits which must inevitably result from such a gift, not only in this community but throughout a wide area where the news is carried, and not alone in our own associations throughout the world.

J. A. Steiner proposed that action be taken to erect tablets to be placed in both the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. which would set forth the perpetuation of the work among the youth of Janesville which is assured under the provisions of the Allen P. Lovejoy Memorial and in recognition of the establishment of the memorial. This was received with much favor. President Matheson announced that he will appoint a committee of six to start work on the matter.

Miss Barker spoke of the relationship of the two organizations in the development of character in the youths of the community and urged that the joint meetings be held more often, and extended an invitation to the Y. M. C. A. to be the guests of the girls' organization at some future date.

Mrs. E. B. Richards, A. C. Preston, and H. S. Lovejoy also spoke.

MILLIONS COLLECTED BY CO-OP SOCIETY

curtains now totaling $1,337,955. There is still due on these certificates the sum of $16,954,124.46.

According to the contract made between the society and the Great Western company, the Great Western, as selling agent, received a commission of 20 per cent on all sales, this commission to be deducted from the first payment. Thus, of the $1,337,955 in cash paid in, the Great Western company, as selling agent, received 20 per cent of $328,332.085,46 certificates sold, or $266,666.117.99 in cash. This left a cash balance of $5,671,437.11.

Salesmen Get Commissions.

The salesmen employed by the Great Western company received a 10 per cent commission of their gross sales, this commission being part of the 20 per cent withheld by the Great Western. The company itself received but the remaining 4 per cent for expenses and clerical work. The total thus received by the salesmen aggregates $1,533,134.31; the total retained by the Great Western company aggregates $1,133,283.58.

This money paid to the salesmen cannot be received by the receiver. Under the contract between the Co-operative society and the Great Western company, the latter retains all the money received until the certificates involved are paid up.

Borrowed Back Money.

In order that the Cooperative might have the use of the money a considerable part of it—$3,355,462.74—was loaned to the society at 7 per cent interest. The Great Western company paid 4 per cent interest to the certificate holders, thus making a profit of 3 per cent interest on loans to the society of moneys obtained through sales of the society's certificates.

The Great Western company has assets now, according to the audits and excepting the amounts loaned to the society and those still due on deferred payments from the certificates, of $1,269,770.23, plus a balance subject to distribution to other companies when the books are finally closed of $665,314.24—a total of $1,935,084.47.

Assets Put at $4,356,307.

Fellow Pastors in Sendoff for J. H. Truesdale

The Rev. J. Hart Truesdale, pastor of the United Brethren church, will leave with his family Thursday morning for St. Petersburg, Fla., to spend the winter. He has found it necessary to go south on account of illness of his son. They plan to return to Wisconsin next spring.

Mr. Truesdale was tendered a farewell reception by the Ministerial association at the home of the Rev. F. Lewis Monday night. They adopted the following resolution:

"Inasmuch as the departure of Brother Truesdale and family from our city breaks into the pleasant fellowship which we have enjoyed by it:

Resolved that we express our appreciation of this fellowship: That we are grateful for the fine ability and high spirit of Christian wholeness in which Brother Truesdale has performed his ministry in our city and that we prize in a very personal way our associations with him as a brother minister; that we join in our prayers and good wishes for the health and happiness of the entire family in their new home.

A committee of which J. H. Douglas is chairman, has been appointed to find a successor for Mr. Truesdale.

MADISON W. C. T. U. LAUDS JUDGE LUSE

Madison.—A resolution was passed by the Madison W. C. T. U. Tuesday night, praising the work of Judge Claude Z. Luse in United States district court for his work in helping to remedy the prohibition situation in Wisconsin, wherever it may be desirable, and "beyond control of local authorities."

Society, excepting the amounts due from the Great Western company for payments on the certificates, amount to $4,356,307.79, according to these figures.

The liabilities of the company are given by the audit, at $1,937,955.31. The question of solvency and insolvency thus rests on the decision of Federal Judge Evans and Master in Chancery Morrison as to the standing of certificate holders, as creditors or stockholders.

Depends Upon Rating.

"If the certificate holders of the company are ruled up by creditors of the society, we are insolvent—very much so," said a high official of the society Tuesday. "If it is ruled that they are stockholders and as such are the creditors, of course, neither the society nor the Great Western company, or both of them combined, has right now as much actual money or assets as is represented in the actual cash so far received from the sale of certificates. Sixteen per cent of that money received was paid to the salesmen—more than $4,000,000. We haven't made that much profit back. I think our assets combined will total more than $7,000,000. We have taken in cash more than $11,000,000. The remainder represents the payments made to our salesmen."

Numerous conferences of far-reaching importance to Wisconsin agriculture are scheduled to be held during the coming fall and winter. Over 200 boys and girls eager to see a coveted ribbon on their pet have entered pigs, calves and lambs of the Junior Livestock Exposition. For four days the youngsters are busy tending their charges.

The management of the International Potato show plans to make it one of the greatest exhibitions in the history of potato production. The exhibit will be held in the Madison stock market and will be equal to the National Dairy Show and the International Livestock Exposition.

Host Dairy Interests
When the annual convention of the Wisconsin Buttermakers' association is called at Chippewa Falls, November 5-10, men who for more than 20 years have been vitally interested in Wisconsin's dairy industry will meet to discuss further means in maintaining and increasing her supremacy. E. H. Farrington of the dairy department, University of Wisconsin, was the assistant at the usual line of exhibits of Wisconsin's herds and flocks will be presented at the International Livestock Exposition scheduled for November 20-26-December 3.

Milwaukee Exposition
Although the potato crop was limited in some portions of the state, the tenth annual potato exposition at Milwaukee, December 5-10, will be bigger and better than ever. One hundred and fifty individual displays have already been entered and 20 counties will compete with attractive booths. Consumers will be interested to see an exhibit of graded potatoes for table use.

In connection with the potato exposition, the first Wisconsin Markets Exposition will be held. Cheese, butter, tobacco, honey and apples are only a few of the Wisconsin-grown products in which the management hopes to interest home and out-of-state buyers. The Wisconsin Livestock Exposition, held on another floor of the Milwaukee Auditorium, will seek to exhibit the latest and most efficient agricultural implements on the market now, and to show their use in connection with the various products exhibited.

Cheesemakers to Meet
At the Cheese Exposition and convention in Milwaukee, January 11-15, over 1000 cheese-makers from all over the state will be in attendance. The program will include discussions on cheese-making and marketing.

Not a little time of the state grain show at Green Bay, January 24-25, will be devoted to the juniors, their exhibits and judging contests. In interesting the youngsters in all phases of agriculture, the Wisconsin recognizes the opportunity to place one of the strongest stones in her foundation for a permanent agriculture.

The farmers' course this year, January 30-February 4, will feature the fifty-first anniversary of the Wisconsin dairy industry.

Controversy Over Burgenland Dangerous to Europe's Peace

London.—The name Burgenland has emerged as a new factor in the front line of the controversy over the peace. It is a small province, but its position is so important that it has become a bone of contention between Austria and Hungary. The province is situated in the Danubian basin, and is a part of the Hungarian empire. It is a fertile and rich province, and its population is largely Hungarian. The Austrians claim it as a part of their empire, and the Hungarians claim it as a part of theirs. The controversy has been going on for many years, and it is now becoming more and more dangerous. The Austrians are determined to keep it, and the Hungarians are determined to have it. The result could be a new war, and that is what the world is dreading.

Turkey Run Will Be Four Miles--To Enlarge Net Courts

HANDICAP BASIS TO BE FOLLOWED; MORE X-COUNTRY

The Turkey day cross country run, started last year by the Y. M. C. A., will again be held this year. Announcement to this effect was made Tuesday by A. E. Bergman. It has been approved by the physical committee of the "Y" composed of H. S. Lovejoy, chairman; Joseph Duratt, Frank O. Holt, P. J. Wood, Charles Atkinson and J. L. Wilcox.

The distance of this year's run will be four miles instead of three. Plans are being made to give handicaps which was not done last year, all men starting from scratch.

When the course for the run is laid out, it will probably take the contestants across open field and timber. Last year's race was conducted over a road and dirt roads. It is the desire this season to make it more of a test of the ability of the athlete to overcome barriers.

Herman Ruesslin was the winner of last year's turkey. He will again compete this year. Runners are expected to start practicing within the next few weeks. Further announcement as to entries will be made later.

MILTON NET TEAM TO TAKE CALIFORNIA ON SPRING SCHEDULE

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Milton—Milton college, which last June played Leland Stanford University in tennis, will have another intercollegiate match next spring according to present indications. The University of Southern California is planning on a transcontinental tour and has asked to play on Milton and has asked to play on Milton's schedule. May 5, the date suggested by the western university, is favorable to physical Director G. H. Crandall, who has mailed a contract for the match to the Southern California manager.

A. C. Dalund, captain of the Milton team, last year won the state intercollegiate singles championship. Phil collegiate singles championship. Phil collegiate singles championship. Phil collegiate singles championship.

It is expected that all the old rivals of the Cardinals will be seen upon the local floor. With a real tennis there is more chance of bringing the highest class outfits to Janesville. Renewal of the scraps with nearby cities is looked upon as a strong probability. Green Bay, Two Rivers, Beloit, Whitewater and all the rest are likely to be seen here this year.

What nights the games will be played on, or the time for starting has not yet been set.

BASKETBALL'S RETURN HAILED WITH DELIGHT BY SPORTSMEN HERE

Announcement that the Denning will bring back the Lakota Cardinal basketball team this winter has met with instant approval in local sports circles. The return of the link to active sports in athletics is hailed with enthusiasm.

BRINGING UP FATHER

OHIO STATE NEEDS A HARLEY OR STINCHCOMB

Ohio State enthusiasts are praying for a Chick Harley or a Pete Stinchcomb to emerge from the group of backfield candidates who are fighting for the honor of playing regularly behind the line of vets which held over from last year. Unless Coach Wiley can find such a man or develop an even backfield of higher caliber State will face defeat in the Big Ten race.

Badgers to Open Passing Game Against Illinois

Madison.—With his squad intact after the Northwestern game last Saturday, Coach John R. Richards has taken the Badger players behind closed doors this week to prepare for the battle against Illinois next Saturday, which he regards as the crucial contest of the Wisconsin schedule.

Two successive defeats at the hands of Wisconsin, both of them shattering conference hopes, are known to have made the Illini more determined than ever to defeat their old rivals on Saturday. The Badgers will be in smooth running form to attempt to repeat their performance of the past two years, without loss of players through injury.

Wisconsin has given no real evidence of its full strength this season, because of a desire to hold back its open field plays and specialized passing game, from receding opponents. There will be considerable blossoming out of the Wisconsin passing game, according to belief expressed here.

Captain Sundt, the punting and punting mainstay of the Badgers at fullback, nursed a lame shoulder through the early season games, but is back in perfect condition now. All of the back field men are in good form.

Trouble has been encountered this season in the center of the Badger line, where off guard plays have been used successfully against Wisconsin by the weaker teams. Changes are expected here before the Illinois game, with Hoffeld, Nelson, and Christianson all on the doubtful list. Gould and Tubell at end have been working in form, but Korne or Carlson may be shifted into Gould's shoes, with him taking a position in the backfield.

Hard daily scrimmages and nightly chalk talks are being used to polish the Badgers for their first hard battle of the year.

DESCENDENTS OF INCA MAKE PLEA FOR RACE

(By Associated Press.)

Lima, Peru.—An odd ceremony following the celebration of Peru's centenary of independence was the presentation to President Augusto B. Leguia of a memorial inscribed by the 14 living descendants of the Inca chief, Tupac Yupanqui.

In a short speech, in which he pleaded for the future protection of his race, the Inca, Victor Tupac Yupanqui, made the presentation to the president.

The Inca Tupac Yupanqui ruled from 1420 to 1478, at a time when the Inca empire included most of what is now Peru, Ecuador, Bolivia and Chile.

"Y" DECIDES UPON BUILDING PROGRAM TO PUSH THE GAME

Steps to enlarge the tennis courts of the Y. M. C. A. on West Milwaukee street will be made at once following a decision by the physical committee. The plan is to add one more court so that there may be three. This action follows the most successful tennis season held in this city for many years.

Proposal of making three courts was offered by the Janesville Tennis club, the organization responsible for the large scale upon which the game was conducted here during the past summer despite a late start. The rearrangement of the courts will give two doubles and one single. It was also materially by the efforts of Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, president of the "Y" and a member of the club.

If the grading is done before the cold weather sets in it may be possible to use the upper portion for a skating rink.

MILTON UNION MEETS WALWORTH WEDNESDAY

Milton Junction.—Milton Union high school will meet its second test of the football season here Wednesday afternoon when the local boys play Walworth high. Both Union and Walworth have been defeated by Janesville high school.

BIG CITIES WOULD BE MAIN SUFFERERS FROM RAIL STRIKE; TIE-UP IN YARDS WOULD CAUSE HARDSHIPS AND SHORTAGE

Yards of the New York Central railroad in New York city.

Large cities would be the biggest sufferers from a prolonged railroad strike. Within a few days provisions would become short and many hardships would result. "In New York city we live from hand to mouth," asserted Health Commissioner Copeland of that city in announcing he would commandeer all food and distribute it where most needed in case of a long strike.

"Practically everything we eat comes by rail, and of perishables we seldom have more than a few days' supply on hand at any time. In case of strike we must depend on motor trucks."

MONARCH LIVES AS PRIVATE SOLDIER

Constantine Leaves Luxury Behind; Shares Hardships of Field.

Constantine, Anatolia. — When King Constantine departed from Athens for the Asia Minor front, he left behind whatever luxuries, pleasures and diversions belong to a monarch. Today, he is living in a mud house in this ancient Turkish settlement, with only his aide-de-camps as companions. His living room, which is adorned with quotations from the Koran, was until recently the haven of a prosperous local Turk. His bed is a modest iron affair that might be found in any American lodging house.

Food is simple. The King eats the same coarse food as his soldiers. The palace cooks and chefs were left in Athens. Constantine's little that could be called luxurious. Constantine's meals often consist only of the native Turkish bread, a can of sardines and a fragment of goat's cheese. There is no wine to be had here. Tea, coffee and water are the universal beverages.

When the King received The Associated Press correspondent, he apologized for the poor surroundings and expressed the hope that the reporter had found better accommodations.

"I suppose we must expect some discomforts and inconveniences in a country like Asia," said Constantine indignantly. "but I wouldn't mind it only the houses were clean. This place wasn't fit for habitation when I came here first. But now after many days of sweeping, scrubbing and disinfecting, we've managed to make the rooms tolerably clean."

"Since I came to Anatolia I think I've encountered every form of insect and bug that nature's history speaks of. My greatest desire is to get a real bath."

Has Few Diversions. Apart from the rather severe living conditions that confront the king, he has few or no diversions. He seldom ventures outside the walls of his lonely Turkish domicile. It probably would be unsafe to do so. Except for officers of the army, he has few or no visitors. His personal advisers and the habits of the court, of course, remained in Athens. The king passes much of his time perusing reports from his army and reading American and foreign books and newspapers.

Being a soldier, Constantine doesn't seem to mind the lack of comforts and the little hardships he has to contend with here. He is essentially democratic and simple in his tastes. It is this democracy and simplicity that have endeared him to his soldiers. That is why they call him "pater" (our father).

The king's health has not per-

HARVARD PRESIDENT PULLS PRESS TEETH

(By Associated Press.)

Cambridge, Mass., President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University, in asking newspaper men not to report a recent address by Viscount James Bryce at the Harvard Union, used his own censorship.

Just before he introduced the distinguished British publicist, Dr. Lowell leaned over to the press tables and told the reporters it was Lord Bryce's wish that none of his remarks be published, inasmuch as it was to be an intimate talk to the under-graduates.

To make doubly sure that the Viscount's request would be respected, Harvard's president, with a smile, took the note-books from reporters and stuffed them into his pocket. Then, with the reportorial guns spiked, he introduced the speaker.

After Lord Bryce's address, which dealt in an informal way with university life in England, Germany and this country, and emphasized the need for educated men in public affairs, President Lowell, smiling again, returned the books. The newspaper men did not print the address.
